

Hayes | Berry | White | Vanzant

August Newsletter 2019

Meet our Real Estate Law Section

Issues pertaining to property have triggered serious disputes since the founding of our nation. Today, residential and commercial real estate matters are more complex than ever. Whatever type of real estate issue arises, the North Texas attorneys of Hayes, Berry, White & Vanzant, LLP help clients manage this framework of centuries-old standards and modern needs.

Our firm has offices in Denton, Flower Mound, Gainesville and Celina and comprises attorneys who are board certified by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization in commercial and residential real estate law. We'll give you the guidance you need to make the most of your property.

If litigation is necessary, we are proud to work with a network of nationally renowned, independent real estate law experts to give our clients the upper hand.

For more than three decades, our firm has provided high-level counsel and exemplary service to a wide range of Texas clients. This background gives us a deep familiarity with local real estate issues and the ability to develop strategies that anticipate short and long-range consequences.

Our lawyers are also well versed in specialized areas of real estate law, including property surveys, foreclosures, warranty deeds and the rules governing condominiums and homeowners associations.

Hayes, Berry, White & Vanzant, LLP handles all types of Texas residential and commercial real estate matters. Call us at 940-387-3518 or contact us online to make an appointment at one of our offices, located in Denton, Flower Mound, Gainesville and Celina.

What is the "Service" in a Lawsuit and What Happens When it Goes Wrong

Service of process is the means by which a person named in a lawsuit is officially made aware of the existence of the lawsuit, and the need for them to take some action.

Should I Hire a Lawyer When Buying a House in Texas?

The answer, as is often the case with many things in life, is "It depends." The home-buying process can go awry in a number of ways, and no two transactions are the same.

What you need to know about your Commercial Lease

When entering a commercial lease, the landlord is thinking about rent checks finally resuming and the tenant is thinking about how successful their business will be.